

Mayfield Protest On U.S. Building Policy Is Mailed

Every New House Means
Ease to Shortage Says
Contractor

Lake Tahoe building contractors as well as potential home and business owners throughout the district are protesting the apparent laxity or inactivity of federal officials in putting such a curb on building materials that it is virtually impossible to build without the assistance of the black market or highest priority.

In the first definite move to bring about a better condition and release a strangle hold which has continued for some time, N. R. Mayfield, one of Tahoe's leading building contractors, has written to California representatives in Congress demanding action and pointing out some of the problems confronting builders in this as well as other areas.

Mayfield's letter follows:

"We are writing this letter in protest of the present rulings on the construction of homes. What this country needs is more homes built in a hurry. Regardless of who builds the homes it will create housing for the veterans.

"We understand that only a small percentage of veterans really desire or are able to build at this time. This is true especially in this locality. We also understand that the Veterans' Administration is discouraging veterans from building at this time because of the high cost of construction.

"We have a large number of homes approved in the blueprint stage and even a number of foundations already in place and orders placed for materials. These people have been waiting to build their homes for several years and now find that under the new rulings they are further handicapped, delayed and possibly prevented from building at all. At the present time we have no applications from veterans.

"Also there are many permanent residents as well as returned veterans in this locality who derive their livelihood from the building construction trades. These men desire and need steady employment and under the present conditions the outlook is very bad for steady employment. My payroll now is only about 20% of normal peace time operations and I can see no chance of being able to increase the number of men I can employ in spite of the fact that I have a large backlog of homes which people desire to build.

"As long as the government continues to interfere in, confuse and hamper the building industry the greater part of the lumber will continue to go into the black market.

"During the war everyone was only too anxious to cooperate and sacrifice but now that the war is over we feel that industry should not continue to be hampered by government regulations in its desire to speed reconstruction and increase employment."

Rotary Oil Buys Fuel Business of Smith This Week

City Transfer to Continue
Operation As Hauler
Of Freight

The Rotary Oil and Burner Company, through its owners, H. T. Langille and V. L. Deaton, this week announced the acquisition of the fuel oil business of the City Transfer, operated by C. E. Smith for the past 10 or more years.

In announcing the purchase, Langille said the Rotary company purchased all the business and equipment of the oil department of City Transfer, including the trucks, bulk storage tanks and customer tanks. The transaction took effect April 1.

As a result of the transfer, Rotary Oil will now handle Standard fuel oils in place of Union and will continue to serve their former and new customers with the former product. Service to former City Transfer oil customers will be continued by the Rotary, Langille explained.

"It will be our desire," the owners of Rotary Oil said, "to continue serving our old customers in a better way than formerly with the best product we can procure. We hope too that former customers of the City Transfer will come to expect the same high calibre service which we are prepared to give them."

While Smith has not revealed his future plans, he said that for the time being at least he will continue to operate the City Transfer trucking department. His grandson, Earl Smith, who has served City Transfer customers for the past winter, will be employed in the same capacity by Langille and Deaton.

March Out Like A Lion With Storm

Six to Eight Feet Reported
On Martis Ridge In Snow Survey

March, passing out like a lion, brought the total precipitation at Truckee to five inches for the month and a total for the season up to 31.76 inches, which is .64 inches over normal for the past month and .36 inches over normal for the season since September 1, reports District Ranger H. I. Snider.

The last winter sports conditions report for the weather bureau's winter broadcast will go in this week but is anticipated ski tows will be operating at Truckee and Tahoe City for another month unless very warm weather should prevail the latter part of April, Snider states.

The total fall of snow at Truckee for March was 51 inches and the total depth at the Truckee Ranger Station is now 38 inches.

Recent trips on telephone line maintenance work over the Matris Ridge between Truckee and Lake Tahoe by Dispatcher William Curran and Fire Control Assistant Ralph Throop reveals average snow depth along the high portions of that area to be six to eight feet.

During the past week Truckee and vicinity have shivered under cold and stormy skies, as spring tries vainly to shove winter into the background. Snow falls nearly every day following clear but chilly nights and mornings. The temperature fell as low as 18 during the past week.

It may be only imagination, but it seems to us that with the increasing number of motor vehicle accidents on the highways and the gain in the number of vehicles operating that instead of becoming more careful drivers are getting more careless. It is not at all uncommon to see a car driven at a high rate of speed tearing down the center of the road with the driver disregarding all other vehicles and failing to give way to approaching cars. When two such drivers meet there is bound to be an accident. Too few people know enough about the rules of the road and are extremely discourteous.

Registration for the primary election will close April 25th. Everyone not qualified to vote at that time is urged to register. It will take you only a minute or two to qualify and every citizen is obligated to vote if the country is to retain its democratic principles.

The Truckee Parents and Teachers and the Wyethia Women's Club members are interesting themselves in the formation of a junior highway patrol for Truckee, an organization badly needed and one which can be of utmost benefit to the youngsters. We believe the two organizations which have developed the program are entitled to lots of credit for their effort and we certainly hope that the junior patrol is the success it can well be.

A lot of these strangers we see in town recently are not really strangers at all. They are merely political candidates who make it a point to come up once every four years whether they see us in the interim or not.

Sportsmen Act To Save Herd Of Mule Tails

Recommend Season, Limit
Cuts to Prevent Extinction

More than 150 sportsmen from nearly every county throughout northern California and western Nevada meeting here Saturday evening at the invitation of the Truckee Outdoor Sportsmen decided unanimously to urge the California State Fish and Game Commission to take immediate and revolutionary steps to protect the diminishing herd of Rocky Mountain mule-tail deer in this district.

A. G. Bradshaw, president of the Truckee club, presided at the session during which the large group heard numerous stories of how the mule-tail herd continued to grow smaller and how the percentage of forked horns killed has gone from 40 to more than 60 per cent in the past five years.

The meeting voiced approval for favoring the following three major changes in the law:

1. Change the date for hunting in this district from September 16 to October 15 to October 1 to October 21, the same dates as set by Nevada.

2. Extend the boundaries on one-buck district to include all mule-tail territory in the state.

3. Limit shooting to three or more points.

The latter clause was stricken from a motion changing the dates when it was decided that the Truckee club should first take action on prohibiting the shooting of forked horns. The other two clauses were passed without a dissenting vote.

A number of fish and game officials were here from Nevada and California including F. S. (Buck) Wheeler, executive secretary of the Nevada commission, and Emil Ott, executive secretary of the California commission. All the officials from both states pointed out the danger of exterminating the herd unless drastic steps were taken immediately.

The meeting here was one of a series to be held throughout the district to fix a guide for the California commission when it meets in June to exercise its regulatory powers regarding seasons and limits on deer.

The Truckee sportsmen were assured by A. C. Taft, head of conservation for the California Commission, that the state would provide feed for raising trout in this area providing feed can be procured. He said no changes were planned in the state's planting program and dates and bag limits have already been fixed.

The trout season opens on the Truckee River, Lake Tahoe, Donner Lake and Boca Reservoir May 1 and in the rest of the district June 1. The bag limit has been fixed at 15 fish instead of 25 as formerly.

Army Seeking Specialists In Recruiting Campaign

Veterans who have been hesitating about reenlisting because of inability to obtain a high grade, may now find that problem solved for them, announced Capt. Roy F. Andermann, officer in charge of the U. S. Army Recruiting office in Reno.

Until this time many veterans who have been out of uniform for some time have been unable to reenlist in the grade they held at the time of discharge. However, the army now has a specific need for 378 different types of jobs from aircraft welder to marine engineer and including such jobs as electrician, shoe repairer, printer, welder, radio operator, and utilities technician. These jobs carry definite grades, according to the veteran's experience, up to the rank of Technical Sergeant.

At the current rate of enlistment, concluded Capt. Andermann, "I expect these jobs will not be available too long and I advise all veterans to look into their possibilities before

Like your other Electric Appliances

The ELECTRIC RANGE IS EASY AND ECONOMICAL TO USE

Your next electric servant in the home should be a modern electric range. When you use it you will encounter many delightful surprises. With it the fine art of good cooking becomes so simple and so clean that results will seem like magic.

The speed of the new electric range elements will amaze you. And with this speed there is the accuracy. Cooking temperatures are under control automatically. Oven temperatures are scientifically regulated to assure uniformly tenderized, perfectly cooked roasts, and all your favorite cake recipes become time-after-time successes.

Take a step forward in better living by giving yourself and your family the benefits of electric cooking. Like your other electric appliances, the electric range gives a service you would never be without once you know how much it does for you and how little it costs with today's low electric rate.

Looking Ahead

LOYAL military experts want every care taken against another Pearl Harbor calamity. The idea is popular. The shout for universal military training is an hysterical cry for greater national safety. Let men of proven generalship say how big an army and navy is ample. Being a school man, knowing the possibilities of youth, I know universal training is not wise.

I am in favor of advancing the base pay of our enlisted personnel to an attractive level; sufficiently high to get enough men in service by voluntary enlistment. My reasons are (1) It would save the country money, (2) It would provide a better fighting force and (3) It would cause the least disturbance to the economic, scientific and cultural progress of the nation.

Costly CRAMMING a year of military training into the life pattern of every American boy when he turns 18 or finishes high school, would be an undertaking of fabulous cost, needless cost. Technique changes. Most of the youngsters could never use what they learned (principally squads right) and many of them, if distorted into soldiers, would make miserably poor ones at best.

There is no place in the American armed services for a misfit, however sternly trained. The most routine army post is filled better by a willing soldier. Furthermore, war is growing yearly more technical. It requires more knowledge than a reluctant trainee can acquire in a year. When a man does acquire useful skill in defense, he deserves to be retained and paid well.

Weakens WITHOUT any shade of disrespect to America's fighting men and their singular resourcefulness and heroism. World War II was won in laboratory, field and factory as certainly as on the firing line. A lot of young men who would be misfits in any fighting force will be the technicians of tomorrow, and they can't spare a year of preparation to learn foot drill.

I know that a great many smart people are in favor of universal military training, and for honorable reasons. But I have another serious objection to it in addition to the ones presented above. Universal military training is regimentation of the whole nation, in a limited way. It is the opening wedge with which the few can show the many who's boss.

Suspicion may well be leveled at the "Naziferous" notion of compulsory military training. It sounds like a defense measure but it is not. The first effect of it would be to interrupt the training of technicians and, since modern warfare is technical, it would actually cripple national defense. By carefully selecting volunteers and paying them well, Uncle Sam can have a better fighting force with less confusion and at less cost.

$27,000,000 Spent on Light Bulb By General Electric

Research and development in connection with the electric light bulb and the processes for manufacturing it cost General Electric Co. $27,000,000 according to testimony in Washington.

Charts exhibited in connection with the testimony showed the company's lamp research department staffed by 500 scientists and technicians with a budget of $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 a year.

Graphs showed a continual rise in the efficiency of incandescent lamps and a steady drop in their cost to the consumer as a result of the vast sum spent in research and development.

this offer is withdrawn." The list of jobs is now on file at MPPS headquarters and veterans may inquire as to their eligibility between the hours of 8:30 AM and 5:30 PM in the Post Office Building in Reno.

A representative of the recruiting service will be in Truckee Wednesday of the first and fourth week of each month.

TAHOE LETTER To The Servicemen

From SWANEE
Tahoe City, California.
March 31st

Dear Tahoeites:

Today is the last day of the month and while no wind has been blowing, snow fell both last night and during the day. I'm sure this last storm must have left an additional three feet of snow, which just postpones our arrival of spring that much longer. The sun shone during mid-morning, and my window still with its array of breadcrumbs and baco-rinds continues to grow in popularity with the increasing number of chickadees, snowbirds and bluejays. Some folks in town has reported seeing robins but to date they have not shown themselves in our vicinity. Before this last snow we were able to spy, here and there, patches of bare ground under a few of the trees but now all is again covered.

Big news of the past few days for our family was the arrival of a telegram on Saturday morning at 7:30 for daughter Marie. It was the word she has so long awaited. Her husband, PFC Bill Steenis, who has been undergoing treatment in a Manila hospital for the past two months leaves for home and God's country tomorrow, Monday, April 1st, and that's no April Fool joke for members of our family. We have no idea where he will be sent but it will be wonderful to have him back again.

Son Jimmie's birthday, March 28th, was highlighted for your truly in a very special way, by the receipt of a letter from him—my first since he left the United States. It was written from Camp Phillip Morris at Le Havre, France, where the boys were billeted for two days and nights in tents with concrete floors. It was bitterly cold, so sold that the army was furnishing four blankets instead of the usual two. He said his group of over 1,000 left Staten Island on March 6th, the trip across taking ten days. Their ship was the largest troop carrier now on the seas and the flagship of the U. S. Army Transport Service, the 36,000 ton George Washington. For three days of the voyage a storm raged, with terrifically high waves which made many on board seasick, but Jim was not bothered a bit. On the morning of the 13th they passed the Queen Mary coming back to the U.S. loaded with returning GIs. He was, like his companions, greatly impressed upon arrival at Le Havre by the complete devastation of harbor installations, shipping and gun emplacements, and the demolished sections of the city, all of which served as mute evidence of the power and accuracy of the American airman who operated in that theater of war.

Two days later I received another six page letter from Jim, who wrote this time from Furstenfeldbruck, in Bavaria, where he and his group were occupying a camp in the midst of a fir forest, approximately 20 miles from Munich. All surrounding woods had been declared off limits to the men as several soldiers were seriously hurt when they accidentally found live mines and bombs. Small towns which surround the area were also forbidden to service men as, it is said, the odds are all against him coming back alive should he travel alone. He's sending me some invasion and German money for my collection and promises some souvenirs as soon as he gets a pass to go shopping. Prices for everything are fantastic and American cigarettes will bring $130 a carton. German women appear well dressed and clean but the GIs are wary of them.

One of the most interesting sights through the French countryside was the great patchwork of green and brown fields that covered the rolling hills, beautifully peaceful on that sunny day with every single foot of ground planted. All trees were pruned and trimmed and the twigs were tied in bundles and stood upright to dry, no doubt for kindling. Germany he found beautiful too but more cut up and with rocky ridges and small forests. I may not hear from him now again until he reaches his permanent assignment base. They had mail call as he wrote and three of my letters had reached him okay. Will be glad when he gets 'settled' as I'm holding a box of birthday gifts for him but won't mail anything to a temporary address. He'll continue to get his Sierra Sun, too, a little luxury he and all of you boys far from home always appreciate. His only ailment to date is homesickness and he'll more than welcome letters from his old friends at the lake, to whom he sends greetings.

Learned yesterday that ex-Tahoeite PFC Donnie Prusso, just out of the hospital, will get his most cherished wish, a one-way ticket home between the first and 15th of April. He's walking on air right now and so is his family who have long waited for their youngest to come home.

The Stan Martins had a letter last week from former Tahoeite Fred Hughes, member of the famed 10th Mountain Division. He had planned at one time to return to the lake this summer and resume his old job with Sierra Pacific but latest information indicates he will turn to placer mining in Utah, his home state. For some time now Fred has been investigating business possibilities from taerns to Kaiser-Frazier car agencier and has settled on mining. Only drawback is his inability to locate equipment but at latest report he has a line on government surplus shovel at Salt Lake, so expects to soon have operations started and his many Truckee-Tahoe friends wish him good prospecting!

A card from Mrs. Al Henry, recuperating in Sutter Maternity Hospital in Sacramento, tells of the name selected for their little daughter, born on March 27. It's Karen Aleen and she's making excellent progress, getting cuter by the minute. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wheat, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Henry, Al Henry and son Gary, and Mrs. Robert Reeves all motored down to the capital on Sunday to peak at the little lady, who is the delighted center of attraction for the enthused family. Al returned home with the folks and is again putting in time on the county snowplow, opening the local roads.

Down the Truckee River at the home of Mrs. George Walker visitors include her sister, Mrs. Stewart E. Smith of Los Angeles and the latter's son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Roderick A. Smith. Their stay, duration of which is indefinite, is doing much to cheer the spirits of the gracious semi-invalid, who remains uncompaining, despite the long rest in bed ordered by her physician because of her broken hip.

Had a nice letter and so did the boss from new subscriber Harold Ambrosch of Glendale and Tahoe district here, informing us of how very much he was enjoying his Sierra Sun and upbraiding himself for not having ordered it years ago. Says it contains all the information about the lake he has always wondered about, and especially enjoys the service letter. He took movies of the Tahoe-Donner area during his last visit and promises to show them to us when comes in this summer.

Had two pretty scenic postal cards last week, one from Mrs. C. A. Tollefson of the Truckee River from New York who opines she'll still take the Truckee River and Lake Tahoe as their place of residence and the other was from Mrs. J. G. Baldocchi, our summer neighbor in Timberland who with her husband and son has been vacationing in Palm Springs where the men folks have been recuperating from a severe siege of flu. They hope to make a trip to Tahoe in the near future.

I finish this on Monday morning, as skies are overcast and light snow continues to fall.

Received in today's mail a nice letter from Mrs. J. Carroll Skinner of Lodi and Homewood who noted our mention recently of the illness of her sister, Mrs. Weymouth Roberts (Genevieve Morse). Mrs. Skinner declares her sister passed away in a San Francisco hospital on March 20 after a lingering illness. Grieving her departure are her suband, with Standard Oil in San Francisco, two daughters, Marilyn and Adrienne, and a son Bob. Bishop Noel Porter of Sacramento and Tahoe officiated at the funeral services held in Lodi. Their many friends and neighbors here extend most sincere sympathy to the surviving members of the family.

Roy Teagarden, husband of the former Theda Prusso, a member of the Infantry, has arrived at his destination in Korea, according to a telegram sent home.

Just heard on the radio that blino Bobie Wetzel and his brother Gerald were seriously injured and in a Reno hospital following an accident to their car on the Mt. Rose road Sunday.

Can't close this week without comment on the grandest bit of news to come my way in months. It's the return in July of Mrs. Myrtle Galling, former principal of the Tahoe Lake Grammar School, who left to teach in Concord last year. She plans to teach during the summer vacation at Humboldt State College at Eureka, after which she will return to her home, her numerous friends and her delighted pupils at the lake. We older residents wov value and appreciate her true worth, both as a friend,

SCHLEUTER GOES TO CITY FOR CHECKUP AFTER OPERATIONS

TAHOE CITY— Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Schleuter last week motored to Oakland where the former underwent an examination by his physician. He was found to have recuperated quite satisfactorily from his trio of operations but must continue to undergo a physical checkup every three months. They returned home Friday. Newlyweds at the Schleuter Cabins last week were Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Feril of San Francisco who were married in Reno.

Other recent guests at Schleuter's were William Lambert, Tahoe realtor, who winters in Auburn and George W. Mortimer of Sacramento and Tahoe Park.

Mr. and Mrs. William Boorman and children Betty Joy and Billie recently visited in San Francisco and San Jose. They combined business with pleasure, taking in the races at Bay Meadows on afternoon and viewing the popular "Voice of the Turtle", a stage play. It rained continuously during their stay and now the two children are in bed with attacks of the flu.

There was no regular meeting of the Lake Tahoe Ski Club on Friday last due to storm conditions. A meeting is scheduled for this Friday, April 5th, and all members are urged to attend.

Members of the Tahoe Gun Club enjoyed a bit of trap shooting on the highway east of the fish hatchery on Sunday last. Among those present were Andy Sorenson and son of Tahoe Vista with the young 13 year old proving himself a good shot, C. A. Swanson, Carl Bechdel, Jr., who took high score for the day, Stanley Marton, Jake Stuart and Fred Main.

Captain A. H. Willard of the state fish and game patrol, with his daughter, was a visitor to the Tahoe area Sunday.

MY PLACE in the SUN

by DOUG BARRETT

The picture of Truckee that Della Burlingham lent me depicting old Truckee brought forth a couple more one much older and the other slightly more modern, which Tillie Smith has. Mrs. Smith graciously brought them down to the office and we had a great time looking them over. One of the Smith pictures—both taken by Truckee's pioneer photographer, H. K. Gage—is undoubtedly the oldest picture of the town, having been taken when Truckee was a sprawling infant of less than one year. Prominent in the shot is a shoe store, a barber shop, the Tin Shop, Webber House managed by J. Kaiser, and a Groceries and Provisions store at the location of Truckee Merc. In the more modern picture, taken in 1890, the main street is caboose deep in snow with The Skating Rink, the IOOF Hall and Sherritt House peeping over the drifts. Certainly wish there was some place and means for rounding up the old pictures in one spot for public display. To those who think Truckee isn't progressing they would be eyeopeners and to all others they would be a source of genuine interest.

"Snowshoe" Burlingham headed up Trout Creek... Betty Gallen taking her kids and Irene Englehart and hers for a jaunt in the Green Dragon... Sheriff Dewey Johnson of Downieville in Truckee over a stormy night... Bob Fowler scooping out his post office box... row on row of dandy pastries in the Truckee Bakery window....

by the Tahoe Boat Company. Sherwood Prusso was being congratulated upon his 24th birthday on Monday, April 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Carnell spent the weekend motoring to various towns on business, and combined a bit of pleasure with it. On Friday they went to Grass Valley to see the OPA office and over the weekend were in Sacramento. There they visited at the home of the Charles Hellers and on Saturday night a dinner party was enjoyed by the Carnells, the Hellers, A. E. Lake, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hennigan and little daughter Judy. Mrs. Hennigan is the former Roslie Heller. Charlie is reported looking fine and finding the Sacramento climate thoroughly agreeing with him.

TWO COUNTY JOBS IN PLACER COUNTY BEING CONTESTED

AUBURN—There will be two county-wide contests in the June 4 primary election, according to the filings of candidates which closed last week.

Sheriff E. J. Kenison, who was appointed to succeed the late Charles Silva, will face A. A. Pilliard of Loomis and Pete Badovinac of Roseville. Alfred F. Bequette of Auburn and Harry H. Ninas of Roseville will vie for the post of superintendent of schools, with the incumbent, Elwyn H. Gergory, retiring this year.

County officers who face no opposition are District Attorney Clarence Tindall, County Clerk Lillian Rechenmacher, Tax Collector Lou Mohan, Assessor Guy Lukens, Auditor William Stephens, Treasurer Sam Dunton, Coroner Francis West, Recorder Clayton Goodpastor, and Surveyor John Shields.

In Township 11, which includes the Lake Tahoe area of the county, Constable Harry Johanson is opposed for reelection by Franklin E. Walker. Justice of the Peace Evelyn Bliss declined to seek reelection and Carl Becholdt, Sr., will be the only candidate whose name appears on the ballot. However, he faces the opposition of two announced write-in candidates, C. W. "Bill" Vernon of Tahoe City and Tom Doherty of Kings Beach.

"SLOW DOWN, LIVE" IS WARNING NOTE BY VEHICLES CHIEF

SACRAMENTO—"Slow down and live longer!"

This terse bit of advice to California motorists came today from Edgar E. Lampton, the new director of motor vehicles, after a study of 1945 traffic casualties disclosed 1093 accidents in which one or more persons lost their lives because of traveling too fast for conditions.

The same study showed 10,416 accidents in which one or more persons were injured, all attributable to excessive speed. Deaths on rural highways, where speeding usually occurs, went up 42.4 percent and injuries, 48.2 percent.

"These figures indicate conclusively that many people are driving too fast for safety," Lampton commented. "Almost overnight we have returned to pre-war conditions of traffic congestion. The average car on the highways is now more than eight years old. Our tires will not stand excessive speed."

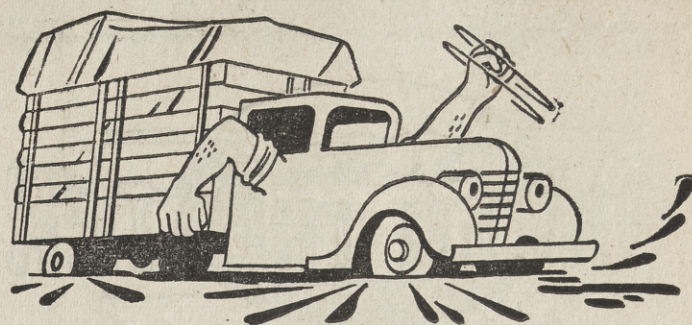

"The obvious answer is to slow down to a safe speed and avoid getting into trouble."

Lampton added that he has instructed California Highway Patrol officials to pay particular attention to speed violations. He favors an overall reduction in speed limits until such time as worn out equipment can be replaced and general conditions return to nearly normal.

Present reserves for production of cement in California as estimated to be good for fifty years.

Many new jobs are seen by manufacturers in the making and servicing of juke boxes this year and in 1947. An estimated 400,000 beaten and worn boxes, bargaged with nickels since 1942, are ready for replacing.

There are 42 chemical manufacturers in the Los Angeles producing such items as aerosol, iodine, perfume bases, insecticide dusts, water softener, war chemicals, sulphuric acid and fungicides.

Quality

When we opened the Truckee Bakery recently, we determined that the best was none too good for our customers. It was decided that the highest quality bakery products possible would be featured here. The splendid support we have since received has been gratifying proof that the policy was sound and will be continued.
